NuvaRing Reminder Guide

NuvaRing Reminder

NuvaRing Reminder is a program that should only be used by women who are using the NuvaRing according to the recommended regimen of 21 days of continuous use followed by 7 NuvaRing free days per 28 day cycle.

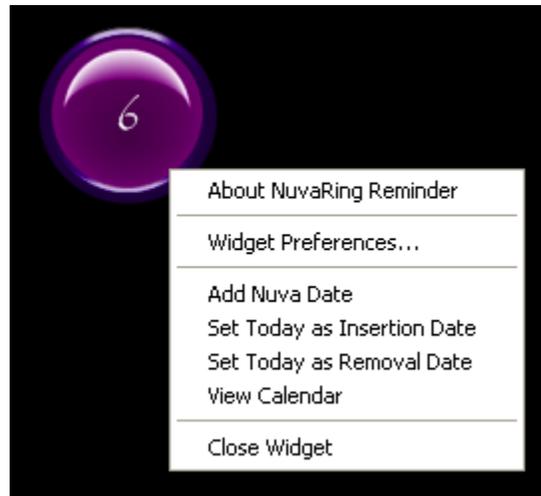

To use the NuvaRing Reminder widget you will be required to enter your current NuvaRing insertion or removal date. The program checks this date against your computer's system clock in order to calculate your future insertion and removal dates.

If your system clock is not correct or you change your system clock you must reset your initial insertion or removal date. Be aware that your insertion and removal dates are calculated from your input and can only be as accurate as you are with the dates you enter and the accuracy of your system clock.

NuvaRing Reminder will continuously countdown until your next action date, which is either an insertion or removal date. When the program has reached an action date you have the option for the program to notify you by E-Mail, Cell Phone or both that you have reached either an insertion date or a removal date. In order for the program to notify you of an action date, your computer must be connected to the internet. In order for the program to E-Mail or send a SMS Cell Phone reminder notice you must also first provide a SMTP Mail Server from which the program can send e-mails as well as provide your current E-mail address, Cell Phone Number and Cell Phone provider.
